The Sphinx Speaks

By Sue Singleton, Med. Int., MHT, CST, EOLMTT

As we approached the Sphinx enclosure, the throngs of people suddenly disappeared from anywhere within our view. There we were, just the three of us, gazing into this magnificent face. As we stood there in awe and admiration, the stone of the entire Sphinx statue came to life, took on flesh form, her eyes lit up a brilliant blue, her eyes locked their gaze into our eyes. Yes, "she". This incredible being is both male and female, and this meeting required her feminine essence entirely. A strong female voice said, "Thank you for coming. So many come, but few are ready to receive. You are ready." Our silent voices in unison said, "Yes, thank you, Great Sphinx."

At this moment, an entire field of golden sparkles went from her eyes to us, showering down through our crowns and into our entire bodies. A blissful, tingly and peaceful feeling...She said, "Each of you are receiving exactly what you need to carry back with you, to apply in your life's work. Do not try to understand or interpret it right now, just allow yourself to receive it. Step by step, later on, it will become clear to you what this is, and what you are to do with it." After several minutes, the sparkles slowed, then stopped, as she said, "It is done. Thank you for receiving." The Sphinx turned back into stone.

The three of us turned to each other, our jaws dropped in near disbelief. From the looks on our faces, it was clear we all experienced something miraculous. As we began to speak, all three of us had an almost identical experience with the Sphinx, even though we remained silent during the "transmission." That was in 1998, and it took time for the full essence and knowledge to be applied. Aaron and I were two of the three, the third was a woman named Catherine*. In the months following that experience, I received the information and insights about the frequency-matching techniques and formulas we apply for The Energy of Life® (EOL) Aromatherapy and EOL Sound Series for self-healing with sound. Approximately one year later, Aaron began having very specific dreams and visions that directed him to draw specific blueprints and plans to build the EOL Net-Neutral Ion Generator. This device takes the positive and negative ions out of the atmosphere, and converts them into a stream of particles with equal positive and negative ionic potential, (net-neutral ions), which are in turn used for healing. This generator is now used to create the EOL net-neutral ionic carrier healing tools: The Rings of Oden, ionic brass pendant, ionic crystal pendants, ionic gold, ionic silver, atomic cell salts, etc.

So many of you have been waiting to hear "what happened" in Egypt this time, November 2006, during our "Egypt: Healing Beyond Time" healing journey. Gotta year? (chuckle, chuckle). We will be sharing this in installments, as part of a series called "Inspirations from Ancient Egypt" in our monthly electronic newsletter, TWTB Health Notes.

We joyfully returned to our friend, the Sphinx, on two different days, November 13 and 14, 2006. The first day, s/he winked and said, "You'll have some special time with me tomorrow, and a whole different aspect of me will be shared with you."

During this trip, we (the entire group with us) were given special permission to go inside the private Sphinx enclosure the following day, to touch the Sphinx, and to perform a special ceremony between her paws. I'm not sure where to begin with this amazing and powerful experience.

Ceremony between the Sphinx's paws

We began with "free time" for everyone in the group to explore within the private enclosure, wherever they were energetically drawn to go. The Sphinx directs Aaron and me to several touch spots on her body, as she says, "I am truly both male and female energies, in perfect harmony, unity, balance. Today I invite you both to share the energy and messages from my heart, via your hearts, to the hearts and minds of your fellow travelers." Thank you, dear Sphinx. We will do our best to be pure vessels for your messages.

The group gathers between the Sphinx's paws, Aaron and I proceed to the area where we can sit with our backs closest to the heart and chest of the Sphinx. As I activate the EOL energy flow pattern in my body, my body becomes wobbly, like jello; it's good that I am seated. This blast of golden and white energy, and holographic forms with data inside, enter my back and my crown, flowing through my Sacred Heart and out to our friends and companions. I ask the words to come through in English for some, to affirm them. The Sphinx assures us all that each individual receives holographic energy transmissions, whether words accompany it or not. I am but an observer, as this vessel of transmission, for pure love and light, and the words sound different than my daily speech, though coming via my voicebox: Katie* begins to cry as I assure her, "Yes, you are safe to open your heart to love!". There is ALWAYS a choice, choose Light, or Shadow. When you choose Light, you choose Life. There is always Light, even when there is Shadow. Light has a harder time passing through a dense building structure, than to pass through beautiful leaves on trees that transform light energy into food. Be more like a tree, embracing both Heaven and Earth, Convert this light and love into food for transformation. You all will need it for the coming days and years of transformation within the human body, DNA changes, and more.

Then Mary* is challenged, "What say YOU, Mary, to Light, to Life?" She responds, "Yes! I choose Light, Life!" Sphinx says, "Thank you Mary, we are so pleased!". Dana* is told, "Your vessel is now open, the pathway is now for you to use your whole body. Say yes, yes, yes, YES! Now open, open, more! It is your birthday, and indeed your re-birthday! What a gift!" Sparkles of gold and white, orbs rain down on all.

Sphinx wants us to know that it is fruitless to seek physical scrolls, papyrus, from the ancient libraries for great knowledge, as they were mostly destroyed by water. However, all this information is safely held in holographic form, to be shared with the appropriate human vessels as they arrive. Everyone receives something for himself/herself. Some receive information to change humankind in a more global sense.

Aaron speaks and raises his hands: "Today I received a blessing. Today I share it with you..." The pure joy, gratitude, love pours through him and into our friends. He continues, "Share your blessing with each other...your family...the Earth and all the universe."

The downloads and blessings we all received are still percolating and processing. The glow and the gratitude for "all that is" remains. The return (to the U.S. and Canada for our travelers) to rules and structure, dense buildings instead of trees are familiar themes for all after this journey. Perhaps a temptation for some to retreat to familiar densities. Sometimes I need to remind myself that I am a tree, and I am still embracing both heaven and earth. I convert light into food for myself, first. I cannot help anyone until I practice self-care first. And so it is for you, too. Choose Light, Life, say Yes to Love in your heart. When you have love and peace in your heart, it overflows to everyone else around you. We change the world by beginning with ourselves first. Namaste (the Divine in me honors the divine in you).
